NUMBER 37. SEPTEMBER 9, 1904, NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS, MAINE. VOLUME XXXV

62nd-ANNUAL OXFORD COUNTY FAIR-62nd

W. O. FROTHINGHAM, SOUTH PARIS, Secretary and Treasurer.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 13th, 14th, 15th.

The 62d annual exhibition, which is held next week, will be the largest and best of all the shows given on the grounds. The program is published in this issue together with the list of entries in the several classes. The prize money is excellent and promises to be very large. The management will spare no pains to make the fair most successful.

Smiley's Store Completed.
The alterations in the store of Thomas Smiley were completed the first of the week. The removal of the partition and staircase gives rather more than double the former floor room, and the extra display windows in the front. The place of the partitions is taken by iron and wooden posts, at the extreme right side, are as formerly, wall shelves and counters running the full length of the store and loaded with dress goods. Next are long center tables loaded with the stock of notions. About half the distance down the center are low shelves with counters in front and carry on that one side hosiery and similar wear, on the other wraps.

To the front and facing the entrance of the store are three glass display cases, running from the floor to about three feet in height. These are what are termed the Williams cases, and have glass shelves and contain electric lights. They are handsome and make elegant display cases. Two more of the same cases are at the left of the easterly door, succeeded by counters running to the garment department at the end. Long dressmaking rooms will be in the basement as formerly.

The store is finished in white, the counters light natural wood, making the store brilliant by day. Four are lights give all necessary illumination by night. The store has practically no superior in the county, and it is safe to say that very few towns, even if larger than Norway, and small cities can match it for size, completeness and excellence.

Partook of a Clam Bake.
A gathering of for the most part Oxford county people was held at the home of G. H. Hill and family in Falmouth, Labor day, Monday, the 6th. Mrs. Hill is a sister of O. P. Brooks and a niece of Geo. H. Bennett. A clam bake was prepared and when opened proved a fine one, comprising clams, lobster and fish, with all the proper accompaniments. The day of reunion was a most enjoyable one, and will be remembered by those present for a long time. Among those present were:

D. Edwin Bennett, Melrose, Mass.
G. H. Bennett, Norway.
Mrs. J. A. Saylor, Portland.
Alfred M. Boothby, wife and daughter, Portland.
Albert A. Chapman, Portland.
Edith M. Brooks.
Ivy E. Morse, Westbrook, Mass.
Lucetta L. Brooks, Norwalk, Conn.
Carroll B. Hill, Cousins Island.

The Home for Aged Women.
There was a pleasant gathering at the Old Ladies' Home, Sept. 1, its annual basket picnic and donation day. The managers thankfully acknowledge the substantial gifts received. The Home is now entering its second year with the renewed assurance of the interest and practical help, not alone of the people of Norway, but of all the towns in our county.

The Home has lately received from the Snowbound Literary Club of West Sumner, $5.25, and $10.00, from the Congregational parish circle of Watford. The managers are very grateful for this timely aid and it is hoped that other towns will take up the good work for a cause which deserves their best efforts. Though situated in Norway, whose citizens have most generous in their support, the home is an Oxford county institution and all are asked to co-operate for its benefit.

E. G. Curtis of West Paris is in Norway working on the Cordwell house. The shop on Cottage street occupied by L. M. Longley is reshingled this week.

Norway Public Library will be closed Wednesday and Thursday of the Fair next week.

Della Moulton is spending her vacation with relatives in Freedom, N. H. She started Tuesday.

Annie Simonton has returned from Poland campground and resumed her duties at L. I. Gilbert's.

The apple crop is estimated to be even this year, last year, especially in the more valuable varieties, through this section. The estimate for Maine is 25 to 30 per cent, more than last year.

THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

Rally Round the Pledge.
The Prohibition rally at Norway Opera house, Wednesday evening, was fairly well attended and though some little annoyance was caused by the passing in and out of some young men for the evident purpose of disturbing the meetings, yet it was an excellent meeting and one well calculated to advance the cause presented. The temper of the speakers was excellent. They did not indulge in denunciation of other parties, men or principles but presented their views calmly, reasonably and with force.

Norway band played several selections before the opening and during the evening. Prominent men on the platform were Rev. A. S. Ladd of Portland, Rev. C. A. Brooks of Norway, E. H. Marshall of South Paris, Alvin Brown and V. E. Dunn of Norway.

The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. C. A. Brooks, who after a musical number spoke briefly on the theme of opening, the young man's eyes. He spoke of the responsibility resting on the young voter of Norway and pleaded for the putting of principle above party, thus showing honesty of temperance principle.

Rev. A. S. Ladd, presiding elder of the Lewiston district, in his address said if temperance agitation is no new thing, it is nothing against it. He cited old things as of great balance, sunlight, water, friendship, truth and love. If temperance was perfectly understood and introduced, it would not be tolerated in any part of the world. It is universal and there is no use for it, no benefit to the world whatever. Its direct cost, fifteen hundred million of dollars annually, its indirect cost annually and entailed to future years no one can estimate its paralyzing effect on heart and mind. All other industries have valuable products but no value in product of the gin mill.

License laws are not better enforced in the restrictive features of forbidding sales on Sundays and holidays to minors, intoxicated persons or drunkards. The conscience of the men of Maine will not permit it. Province of law is to make it hard for a man to do wrong and easy to do right. The closing of the rum shop is of more vital importance than the tariff or kind of money standard.

Vote, not on you pay, with your eyes shut, but with them open. We protect our fish and game, in Heaven's name, let us protect our boys and girls, our homes.

Monday, the Norway ball team played in the Labor day tournament at Mechanic Falls. They were defeated in the morning by West Paris 8 to 7. In the afternoon Oxford went down before Mechanic Falls with a score of 6 to 4.

O. A. Tubbs, wife and two sons, Ralph W. and Gerald S., of Portland are visiting his parents and his brother, Geo. E. Tubbs, of this town. Atwood Tubbs is foreman of the composing room of the Portland Express. Some years ago he worked on this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Crockett of Rochester, N. H., have been visiting her mother, Mrs. C. A. Ballard, who has been here a week. Her granddaughter, Mrs. J. G. Coffin of Rochester and her grandson, Howard Crockett of Hallowell have also been visiting her.

A party was given Minnie W. Frost, Wednesday evening, Aug. 31, on the occasion of her thirteenth birthday. There were about thirty-five present. She was given many presents including a chiffonier by her mother. Music was furnished by three of the young people and a treat of ice cream, cake, fruit and candy was served.

Next Sunday will be the closing service for the season at Christ church, Episcopal. It is planned, however, if possible, that the celebration of Holy Communion will be observed monthly. Mr. Thompson returns to Cambridge Divinity School, which opens Sept. 28. He has won many friends during his summer stay in Norway.

Cassie McCurdie, who has been employed a couple years as waitress at the Elm House, was married to Lewis E. Ward of Sebago at the Baptist parsonage Sunday afternoon, the ceremony being at 4.30 and performed in Pastor Cotton's usual happy manner. The happy couple made their home on Church street, South Paris, Mr. Ward being employed by the Paris Manufacturing Company.

Hon. A. S. Kimball started Wednesday forenoon for a trip to San Francisco where he is to attend the annual meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, held in that city commencing Sept. 19. He goes by way of Montreal, Chicago, Albuquerque, New Mexico and Los Angeles, returning by way of Salt Lake City and Denver. The trip will take him a month.

The first section of the special train carrying the Maine troops to the front and on which was Co. D and the Regimental staff met with an accident at Kingston, N. Y., Saturday. The train stopped and the second section ran into it, wrecking some cars and especially the Pullman at the end of the train. Col. Kendall had just stepped from the toilet room, which was completely demolished by the impact. No one was injured. Telegrams were received here from several of our men who were on the train.

Norway Grange held a picnic at the cottage of F. A. Danforth beside the lake, Saturday afternoon. The number attending was considerably in excess of 200. The weather was perfect and it was a most delightful time. The most interesting feature of the afternoon was an informal address by Hon. Charles T. Witt of East Boston, who has recently taken a trip around the world and who told very interestingly of the sights and scenes of foreign lands. Mr. Witt, who is a Norway boy, is a keen observer and a very entertaining speaker.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and Miss Jackson of Melrose, Mass., J. P. Richardson and wife and Guy and Doris Culbert of this place went to Camp Owsley, Harrison, last Friday for a stay of a week or more. J. A. Kenney is employed in the hardware store during Mr. Richardson's absence.

Mrs. W. T. Willey, who has been a guest of her mother, Mrs. H. L. Stearns, returned last week to her home in Boston. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Edith L. Hall and daughter Marian, also by Andrew J. Jackson and wife, who will visit her a few days before returning to their home in Michigan.

"Stop my ad. I've been overrun with applications. They came from everywhere, Friday, after the paper was out." The speaker was Charles E. Bennett, who advertised in last week. It cost him a quarter and he sold all he had to spare. If you have to sell what the people want to buy, our advertising columns will help you to a quick and large sale.

A party of twenty young people had a corn roast at Oak Lodge, Thursday evening. The cottage was illuminated by Japanese lanterns. Games were played and a good time was enjoyed.

FRYBURG.
The people of Fryburg and vicinity are realizing every day more and more the great loss they have sustained by the burning of the Fryburg Mfg Co.'s buildings, Aug. 31st. About 25 were thrown out of employment and several families will probably be obliged to leave town on account of it. The loss of the electric lights is also keenly felt. Mr. Plummer of the Oxford, catering to the requests of his guests, has placed a small dynamo in the rear of his stable and had the lights turned on Sunday night, only three days after the fire. Chicago Society Woman Who Was So Sick She Could Not Sleep or Eat, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

When a woman's kidneys go wrong, her back gives out and every little task becomes a burden. She is tired, nervous, sleepless, run-down—suffers daily from headache, hives, dizziness, and bearing-down pains.

Don't worry over imagined "female troubles." Cure the kidneys and you will be well. Read how to find the cure.

Marion Knight, of 35 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., member of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and a well-known club woman, says: "This winter when I started to use Doan's Kidney Pills I ached in every bone and had a d i n t e n s e pains in the kidneys and pelvic organs. The urine was thick and cloudy, and I could barely eat enough to live. I felt a change for the better within a week. The second week I began eating heartily. I began to improve generally, and before seven weeks had passed I was well. I had spent hundreds of dollars for medicine that did not help me, but $8 worth of Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to perfect health."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Miss Knight will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-McBurn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by

FARMERS' ORGANIZATIONS.

A Marked Example of Successful Co-operation.

It is generally conceded that granger trade has not been a success, at least so far as I know its history in New York state, remarks Mr. H. E. Cook in Tribune-Farmer. The cause primarily has been the feeling that grange money was more valuable than other coin under similar circumstances. Secret prices were given to members of the order for cash, of course—but other people soon learned that cash payment meant the same discount, whether one was a granger or not. Then came the "trade card" system, which is only now nominally in vogue and will, I am sure, shortly pass out entirely. Individually my experience I have been that cheap prices mean cheap goods—that is, when reckoned upon the same basis, either cash or credit, wholesale or retail.

I recently visited the store of the Leyden Union, located at Leyden, Lewis county, N. Y. It has been in successful operation since 1892. The location is no more than any country four corners, with a few houses near by—that is, there is no trade or business besides that of the farmers. This store, which is managed by grangers, tries the first special price business, but soon found that prices must be the same to all if payment was upon the same basis.

They managed for ten years upon a simple mutual agreement plan, but in 1902 were incorporated, and 134 shares of $25 each were taken by the grangers. Under the original plan not more than $10 could be held by any one granger. The business amounts to from $14,000 to $18,000 annually—from $40 to $60 per day—a good trade considering the fact that they must compete with three good sized country towns only five to seven miles distant. The stock carried is not heavy—from $3,500 to $4,000, including the usual everyday requirements of the house and field. Staple goods only were not feasible upon shelf and counter. I was informed that without exception the goods were first class. It was difficult to ascertain the value of the stock, because none was for sale. I imagine, however, that it was not as low as United States Steel nor as high as the Chemical Bank of New York, but it was an investment that any farmer would be pleased to have. The building, which is also used in its upper story for a grange hall, is owned by the Leyden Building association, incorporated, and is leased to the Leyden Union. Here are three flourishing organizations: Leyden grange, Leyden union and Leyden Building association, all in the hands of energetic, up to date farmers.

Pennsylvania's Patrons.

A series of picnics will again be held in the month of August throughout the state of Pennsylvania under the auspices of the state grange. The services of Mr. Oliver Wilson, master of Illinois state grange, have been secured for three weeks. Hon. Aaron Jones of Indiana, master of the national grange, will give some time to that state, as will also Hon. Mortimer Whitehead of New Jersey, past lecturer of the national grange. The year 1903 was the largest grange year that Pennsylvania has had. Almost as many application blanks have been called for from the state secretary's office during the first half of 1904 as were wanted during the year 1903. The next meeting of the Pennsylvania state grange will be held in the city of Erie the second week in December.

Death of a Prominent Ohio Granger.

S. H. Ellis of Waynesville, O., died June 23 from injuries sustained by falling from a fruit tree. His funeral was attended by his official associates from all sections of the state. Mr. Ellis was present at the organization of the Ohio state grange and had been actively connected with it, either as master or chairman of its executive committee, until his death. He was for many years trustee of the Ohio state university and a member of the board of control of the Ohio experiment station and a member of the state board of agriculture.

A Cheese Weighing 2,900 Pounds.

The largest cream cheese ever made is installed in the Missouri dairy exhibit in the Palace of Agriculture, world's fair. It weighs 2,900 pounds and is more than seven feet in diameter. On the face of the cheese, in high relief, is a life size maid milking a Holstein cow. Underneath the picture are these words: "Missouri in Clover."

We hope to see other state granges following the example of New York in offering free grange scholarships in agricultural colleges to young members of the Order. They are awarded in New York on competitive examination.

Every grange should give much attention to the subject of teaching the rudiments of agriculture in the public schools. Discuss the advantages of such education and be ready to act when the time comes.

Does every name on the grange roll stand for a live, active, interested member, or are some of them patrons of insurance only?

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Two Pigs

A man was taking a pig to market when they came to a tree on which hung hundreds of apples.

"I'd like to have an apple," said the pig as he looked up wistfully.

"I'd like to have a barrel of apples," said the man, eying the fruit greedily.

A little farther they came to a tree.

"I'd like to have a pear," said the hungry pig.

"I'd like to have a wagon load of pears," said the man.

Presently they passed a grapevine.

"I'd like to have a bunch of grapes," said the pig.

"I'd like to have my wine press full of grapes," said the man.

They walked on until a large melon patch was seen at the side of the road.

"I'D LIKE TO HAVE AN APPLE"

"Oh, I wish I had a melon," sighed the pig.

"I would like to have a car load of melons," growled the man.

"Well, look here, mister, you are a bigger pig than I am. I think we are at the wrong ends of this string."

And he began a jerk and broke away.

With a dash he went between the man's legs and upset him on the ground. Then Mr. Pig ran into the melon patch and picked out a good, ripe melon and ate it, while the man got up and brushed off his clothes and went home—Atlanta Constitution.

RUMFORD POINT.

Sunday afternoon the Misses Rice and Flagg, two young ladies boarding at Mrs. Jane Kimball's, were out driving.

Upon reaching the ferry here Miss Flagg got out to sound the trumpet, and the horse at once became unmanageable and rushed for the river. Miss Rice succeeded in jumping out after the wagon reached the water. She was safe, save for a slight wetting, but the horse was drowned before assistance could reach him.

The horse was owned by Alvin Goddard, the ferryman. Miss Flagg left for home, Monday morning.

Hon. M. E. Ingalls Had a Close Call.

According to an Indianapolis dispatch to the New York Sun, M. E. Ingalls (a native of Harrison, Maine) president of the Big Four Railroad Company, and a party of friends were saved from probably serious injuries, Sunday, by an Elkhardt county farmer. Mr. Ingalls and his friends passed through Goshen on a special train composed of an engine and two coaches. The train had the right of way over the road and was traveling at a high rate of speed. Alvin Blough, a farmer living near the railroad track, was walking along the track, and just as he heard the whistle of the train for a crossing, he saw that a part of a rail had been broken. He did not have time to run ahead and flag the train so as to stop it, and he hastily placed the broken rail in position and jumped to one side. Blough thought possibly that the broken rail might remain in position and carry the train across, and in this he was not mistaken. The train passed safely over it, but the rail was displaced as the last wheel went over it and was found forty feet away down the track.

Col. Jas. O. Lyford of Boston will speak at Harrison in the interest of the Republicans, Sept. 10.

It pays to hold your elections a little before the rest, as do Vermont and Maine. In that way you get all the cream of the oratorical talent.

No, September is no longer chiefly noted for being the first month of the oyster season but because it is the month of Oxford County Agricultural fair.

This year it's to be bigger, better, grander than ever.

Ira Clemmons, who lives in Cornish village, was badly injured by a falling tree while he was at work in the woods Thursday forenoon, Sept. 1st. A scalp wound was cut in the head that took 25 stitches to close the cut.

He was felling a tree where he was cutting wood, when it took a bad bound and one of the jagged branches struck him on the head. He was knocked down and his companions who rushed to the spot believed him dead.

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

Stomach Dosing Will Not Cure.

Only Way to Cure Catarrh is by Breathing Hyomei.

Ask any physician if catarrh is a blood disease and he will tell you that it is a diseased condition of the mucous membrane and that it cannot be cured by blood purifiers, pills, tablets, or other forms of stomach dosing. The only reliable and scientific way of curing catarrh is by the use of Hyomei.

Breathed for a few minutes, four or five times a day, through a hard rubber inhaler that is so small that it can be carried in the vest pocket, Hyomei will absolutely destroy all catarrhal germs and cure the disease. Catarrh can never exist where Hyomei is used. It has a two-fold action, destroying the disease germs in the air passages and lungs, and soothing and healing the inflamed mucous membrane.

Noyes Drug Store, one of the most reliable firms in Norway, are giving their personal guarantee with every package of Hyomei they sell, that it will effect a cure or they will return the money. They have had scores of reports of remarkable cures of both acute and chronic cases of catarrh by Hyomei.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Fatal Accident at Bethel.
Last Friday, W. Alphonso Bartlett was so severely injured from being run over by his own team that death resulted Saturday night. The team was standing near the place where grain is being threshed. He had unloaded his cart and the horses were standing unattended and became excited by the noise of the threshing engine.
They took fright at a locomotive switching and ran away. Mr. Bartlett caught them but was thrown to the ground, and his cart went on him. He was taken to a nearby house, but the internal injuries were too severe, and there was no hope of saving his life from the first.
He was a native of Grafton and was a little more than 40 years old. He married Ella Powers of Newry who died about three years ago leaving a son who is cared for by his grandmother, Mrs. E. B. Goddard, who is Mr. Bartlett's mother. A sister also survives.

Oxford, 1, West Paris, O.
Oxford defeated West Paris on the Fair Grounds, Saturday, in a close and interesting game. The only score of the game was made by Oxford in the sixth inning on a clean single by Wilson, two sacrifice hits and a wild throw by Bowker.

West Paris had a grand chance to win or tie in the ninth, when two singles and a sacrifice put a man on second and third with two out, but Cole, the last man up, struck out for the second time.

CURES WHERE ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup, Tastes Good. Use in all black stripes. In the plaits of her black hair, which were brought over her shoulders to fall on her breast, she had a stage fortune of imitation gold coins. On her head was a wreath of artificial red roses, from which hung a red and yellow bridal veil, garnished with axie grease and bacteria applique. Her mother, who weighed 350 pounds, walked to her left. She blazed in bright red, and her head was bound up in a scarlet Roman scarf. Her feet were encased in Congress gaiters. She wore no stockings. The proud father pranced on the other side.

Do They Forget?

Do they love us still, those spirits bright, Who far from our homes have sped? Do they love us still in those realms of light, Our blessed, beautiful dead? Do those dear ones safe in the heavenly land, Ne'er think of the loved ones here, Who are missing the touch of a loving hand, The tone of a voice most dear. Do they talk as they climb the painless hills, In familiar converse sweet, Of those who are trading earth's pathway still, Ah! no! though their light in this world has faded, Dream not that their hearts forget, Can we doubt their love when it never failed? Aye, we know that they love us yet. They call our names in the twilight gray, When the shadows of evening fall, Those sweet, low voices from far away, Their twenty cadence call! Full often they stand at the Beautiful Gate, When God's children are gathering home, And with eager expectant faces wait! To see if their own have come. O those loving hearts in the realms above, That in life we can ne'er forget, We know they are watching with eyes of love, We know that they love us yet!

The Country Town.

It's common to sneer at the country town, With its quiet streets and its peaceful air, Where the little river meanders down To be lost in the broad, blue sea somewhere, As we who think we are wise are lost In the roaring city, that like the sea, Has its ebbs and flows, with its millions tossed As bubbles robbed of identity. There's fellowship in the country town, With its empty streets and its spreading trees, Where the country song birds warble down At noontide as fair as man ever sees; Where the wind blows sweet from the fields nearby, Where men know the names which their neighbors bear, Where a man is missed when he's gone to live With the peaceful ones who have ceased to care. There are joys out there in the country town, That we of the city may never know. In the rush for money and for renown, Confronting strangers where'er we turn, O, wasn't God's world serene and fair In the country town ere we came away! And won't it be sweet to sleep out there, Far from the city's roar, some day?

Much Joy at Gypsy Wedding.

Coney Island Nuptials, a Medley of Bliss and Free Beer and Bacteria and Bizarre Costumes with Axie Grease Applique—"Hey, Papa, Yo' Len! Me a Cigarette!" Said the Bride When Joe Was Made Hers.

There was a grand gypsy wedding the other day near Coney Island. It isn't often that the gypsies "blow" themselves for such an affair as this. A pledge before the King and the removal of the bride's blankets to the bridegroom's wagon are usually enough to constitute marriage. But this camp, on Harvey avenue between Stillwell's and Coney Island, was the biggest gathering of Russian Gypsies that has been in this section of the country for some time.

The tribe has just come back from a trip to California. The contracting parties are persons of importance, and there is a Romance. This Romance is the real reason why the tribe "blowed" itself for two days and nights to a paid orchestra, stewed chicken and ten kegs of beer.

Lizzie Kraboulis is rated as the beauty of the tribe. This summer Lizzie passed her fourteenth birthday, which made her of marriageable age according to gypsy customs. Two suitors came to woo, Joe Jachim and George Somebody or other—no one ever spelled the name and no one without the Romaney accent could pronounce it.

Now, George was poor and Joe had wealth. Consequently, according to all the rules laid down by novelists in the matrimonial game, Joe carried a heavy handicap. Often he cursed his hated wealth—two wagons, five horses and an extra set of blankets—when Lizzie refused to ride with him and walked with George. Yet Joe did not despair.

But one night a few days before the wedding Joe found the lovers back of a tent, and his patience gave way. There was a scrap, which they heard in Coney Island, and when the dust had cleared away George was down and out. When Lizzie saw how well Joe handled a knife, her heart flipped and she accepted him on the spot. Hence the wedding.

All the tribe knocked off telling fortunes and gathered in the ring of tents at the camp. The biggest tent was turned into a bridal chapel. A Hungarian Gypsy orchestra, which has been playing in a cafe in New York, was hired for the occasion. They sat on upturned copper kettles at one side of the tent and played "Bedelia," "Farwell, My Blue Bell," "The Girl with the Changeable Eyes," and other such wild Romaney melodies.

The men of the tribe lay on their fronts in a row at the rear, with the King in the middle. King John has long hair and dignified side whiskers. His only festive attire was a red silk handkerchief, which he wore at his throat over his everyday clothes. But the rest of the men wore a gaudy garment, which hasn't any English name and isn't like any garment of which white people know. It is a cross between a shirt waist and a French peasant blouse. It has leg o'mutton sleeves and is made of the loudest material purchasable. The bride's father's was of green and yellow Highland plaid. The bridegroom's was red with a Paisley shawl pattern in yellow. The happy man also wore overalls, a slouch hat and top boots newly greased.

Outside the tent the women were dancing the czardas to the music. Their costumes were beyond description for high color, but the group gave the general effect of a fire in an oil well. The children, wearing very few clothes of any kind, galloped around the Americans who had gathered to gaze and begged everything in sight from pennies to cigarettes.

"Why, what are you going to do with that little man?" asked a summer girl of a six-year-old, who had just got a cigarette from her escort.

"Huh! I show yo'," said the little man. He produced a match from somewhere in his one garment and toddled away, blowing a cloud of smoke.

The gypsy women now and then dropped over to the Americans and picked up an honest quarter by telling fortunes. As at all society weddings these sensation seekers were a great bother. But late in the afternoon there came a flurry of rain which most of them scattered. Observing this, King John gave a gypsy wedding.

The bride, eating onion stew with her fists in her father's tent, wiped her hands on her skirts, rose and formed the bridal procession. It was delayed somewhat because the maid of honor, the bride's sister, was trying to light a cigarette which she had wheedled out of a spectator. This maid of honor, who is seven years old, wore a purple cotton slip split up the back and decollete legs.

First came the bride, red and purple. Her short skirt was of blue and black stripes. She wore new, high-heeled shoes. In the plaits of her black hair, which were brought over her shoulders to fall on her breast, she had a stage fortune of imitation gold coins. On her head was a wreath of artificial red roses, from which hung a red and yellow bridal veil, garnished with axie grease and bacteria applique. Her mother, who weighed 350 pounds, walked to her left. She blazed in bright red, and her head was bound up in a scarlet Roman scarf. Her feet were encased in Congress gaiters. She wore no stockings. The proud father pranced on the other side.

How to Vote, for 25 Cents.

You see we were riding along and the newspaper agent was cracking up the several papers he represented and he was supplying me with a paper I told him. Then he began to try to get me to subscribe for some of his papers saying that he had one paper for 25 cents a year that would tell me just how to vote in the coming election.

"Why," I said to him, "There are men who would give $25 as quick as they could get it out of their pocket, to know just how to vote."

"Well," he said, "This paper is a Socialist paper and it tells just what the party intends to do."

It says that any party would point out the effect of the trusts but he said the Socialist party would point out the remedy.

Well, of course any clear thinking man will admit that the Socialist is the nearest right, and I would vote with them only a man might as well stay at home as to go to our town meeting and vote a socialist ticket, but if one vote would give them the balance of power I would be glad to cast that vote but I did not take the paper that would tell me just how to vote for it. I had decided just how I should vote long before I saw the agent and if I can get to the Town Hall this fall I shall probably vote.

I don't pretend to know that it is just right but if any of you want to know just how to vote you can get a paper of that agent for the sum of 25 cents that will tell you just how.

School District Reunion.

The sun shone bright on the second annual reunion of former pupils, teachers and residents of the old Crockett Ridge school district, Wednesday, Aug.
31. Soon after 10 o'clock the people began to assemble at the Four Corners, where for 75 years a schoolhouse has held open its hospitable door to the pupils of the neighborhood.

The house had been prettily decorated and across the road the old boys had cut a clean swath in the growth of beautiful white birches, where one long table stretched its length out into the woods loaded with tempting dishes. At noon this table, seating nearly a hundred, was filled and emptied and filled again, but the hospitality of Crockett Ridge's noted cooks was equal to the occasion, and food and drink were abundant and appetizing to the end.

After the noon repast the company assembled in the schoolhouse where the following program was enjoyed by all,
and best enjoyed by the school boys and girls who attended school there in the days of auld lang syne.

An address of welcome was given by the acting president, Edith Farnham Knighly. The record of the very successful meeting of a year ago was read by Emma Titcomb. Present in the absence of the secretary, Addie Titcomb. Thurston. An address on "Some Strong Points and the Remedy for Weak Points in Our Rural Schools" was given by Supt. Chas. P. Barnes.

Dr. S. A. Bennett spoke feelingly of the citizens and pupils in '44. Mrs. Merrill, who taught a term in '68, brought smiles to the lips of the gray headed men who went to school to her then, as she rehearsed some of their doings. Wm. P.
French emphasized the need of cooperation in all attempts at good government and charity in all cooperation.

Mrs. Adalade L. Young read a story.
Mrs. F. P. Towne, Augusta H. Frank,
Mrs. Chas. A. Merrill, Mrs. Fannie Towne Dismore and others were called upon for a word and responded briefly.
Interspersed with the speaking were songs by Mrs. Frank Kimball, Albert A.
Towne, and Mrs. Verne M. Whitman, and duets by Mrs. Kimball and Mrs.
Whitman.

Officers for next year:
Pres.—Mrs. Edith F. Knighly.
Vice-pres.—Mrs. Fannie Dismore and Mrs.
Julia Horne.

Sec.—Mrs. Emma P. Flint.
Treas.—Albert P. Farnham.
After singing a verse of "God Be With You" the company broke up with a ringing vote of thanks to each one who had labored for the success of this reunion, and a strong resolution to be present at the reunion in 1905.

Death from Consumption.

Lucia Wiley, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. F. Wiley of Peabody, Mass., passed peacefully away at her aunt's,
Mrs. Shuah Lewis', Aug. 30. Her health failing, by the advice of a physician, she came, accompanied by her mother, to dle of July, hoping to find a cure in the pine woods and fresh air for the dreaded disease, consumption, but alas! it was too late, for with every care and attention lavished upon her, she could not withstand the insatiable disease. Her remains were taken to Peabody, Aug. 31.

A SNAP SHOT

may do very well
where the amateur photographer is concerned, but it "won't do" in our line of the business. For grace, tone and effect the subject must be

POSED BY A PHOTOGRAPHER

thoroughly experienced in this art as well as in the finishing of his pictures.
We give all this effect and naturalness to our finished pro-

them such perfect
gems of photo-

shall show some of
